AtW

WWDC 2014

- New 'Swift' programming language; advancement over Objective C, to be included in next Xcode (already avail. to registered developers)
- New 'Metal' GPU API; supposedly 'closer to hardware', but baked for A7 architecture only
- Replacement for OpenGL/ES? Brand new, no current traction...not surprising; but, will require driver support for AMD/nVidia cards; great, another 'standard', we'll see how far it goes
- Overall reaction on most topics (from Twitter) is slightly north of neutral

Briefs

- New Crytek , CryEngine-based FPS - 'Homefront: The Revolution'
- Mozilla open-sources 'PlayCanvas' Javascript/HTML5 game engine
- Microsoft finally releases Windows drivers for Xbone controller (wired only, no dongle on the horizon)
- Kinect 2 PC dev kit? May be coming June 15, $199 (preorder)
- Steam updates 'Early Access' FAQ to remind people that those games might not get finished, ever - 'buy if you like the game as-is, not what it will supposedly be'
- 'Floating Point' - new game from makers of 'Gunpoint' - available on Steam; for free (proc-gen-endless-runner-grapple)
- Auctioning of world's largest game collection ongoing; 11k+ games, currently at $50k (http://www.gamegavel.com/item.cgi?show\_item=958029)

Personal Gaming

- TowerFall Ascension (Quest for Semi-Glory, PC)

- Minecraft (PC)
- Cobalt (PC)

Ad-hoc Design

- Top-down (U/D) or top-down (L/R) racer
- Adjust track itself to move car, rather than moving car itself
- Move strip in front of car to 'turn'
- Move strip moving with car to boost/brake
- Slingshot strips to boost, knock off course
- Slingshot up/down to do small jumps, avoid hazards
- 'Push' track down to bank through sharp turns, or counter-act opponent moving track
- Slingshot / move obstacles to put them into path of opponents
- Can shove car directly if off-course (sides of track, turned around, etc)
- Only one person can move a section of track at a time, very brief (< 0.25 sec) control each time
- Cooldowns on adjustments ('turns' have separate cooldowns from 'boost', 'jump', etc)

Shane
